Freshman sparks

South girl runners

Hinsdale South's girls' cross country team will be out to get all the hardware it can when it competes in the largest meet of the season at Niles West.

Some 35 girls' teams will compete in the meet, which will be split into two divisions. Last year the Hornets finished fifth and brought home a trophy.

While he was looking forward to the Niles meet, South coach Mike Madsen was still talking about the Hornets' third-place finish last week at the Bloom Invitational.

South finished with 68 points but was only seven points behind St. Ignatius and 10 points behind winner Thornton, which placed seventh at state last year.

"I didn't expect us to be so close to Thornton; they are a very powerful team," Madsen said. "We were battling with St. Ignatius throughout the race."

One reason South got close to the Falcons was the performance of freshman Carrie Faber. She finished a surprising 10th with a time of 14:01.

"She ran extremely well," Madsen said of Faber, normally the fourth or fifth runner. "It was the best any freshman has run at this meet."

Faber even outran veterans Karyn Verdak (11th, 14:03) and Sally Kurth (16th, 14:09.8).

"She's now getting to the point where she relaxes and runs to her ability," Madsen said of Faber.

Meanwhile, senior Eileen Slowikowski lost her showdown with Bloomington's Melissa Straza, the defending distance champion in track. Straza outran Slowikowski 12:10 to 12:56.

"Eileen ran strong throughout the race, but Straza was just awesome," Madsen said. "She was just too fast, even for Eileen."

Finishing out for the Hornets were Sandy Placek (29th, 14:40.1); Diane Sly (49th, 15:40.5); and Linda Schluter (68th, 16:28.6).

In the open race, no team scores were kept, but South did very well, placing five of its runners in the top 20. Finishing for Hinsdale were Mary Schuch (12th, 15:43); Jackie Smalley (16th, 15:57); Pat Barrera (18th, 16:09); Nancy Seddon (19th, 16:10); Heather Wydra (20th, 16:16); and Carol Catinella (26th, 16:46).

On Monday, South won its second conference meet over Leyden and Morton East. Hinsdale scored 24 points to Leyden's 32 and Morton's 79.

Finishing in order for the Hornets were Slowikowski (1st, 11:54.4); Verdak (3rd, 12:43.1); Faber (5th, 12:45); Kurth (6th, 12:57.7); and Placek (13:18.1).

Madsen expects Fremd to be Hinsdale's biggest competition at Niles.
